Man Eater Fore Arm From Body

(Special to Bulletin)

WAILUKU, Maui, Oct. 11.—A Japanese fisherman at Kalepolepo, near Kihel, was severely bitten by a shark while out fishing last Tuesday morning. The Japanese was in a sampan with his companions. The water was quite deep and as he saw fishes going into his net he dove down to gather them. As he came to the surface he noticed a man-eater approaching him. The Japanese tried to hurry to his sampan but the shark turned on his belly and bit him in the right arm, tearing off the flesh from the shoulder to the elbow joint, while the forearm was severed entirely. This happened at about 9 o'clock and it was 1 p. m. when he reached Mahulani Hospital, Wailuku, to have his injuries attended by Dr. Dinegar. He was unconscious and remained in that condition for eighteen hours, on account of the great loss of blood. The doctor says he on good road to recovery. The wounded man is from Iloilo, an island north of Japan, and speaks a dialect unknown to the majority of the sons of Nippon here, and it is consequently very difficult for anyone to understand him.

LIONEL HART'S CASE IS AGAIN POSTPONED

Lionel Hart again appeared before Judge Lindsay this morning to answer to the charge of attempting to burn the oil warehouse, but the matter once more went over. Hart reserved his plea until next Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock. It is doubtful if anything will be done at that time, however, as it is supposed that the Hart matter is being put over until the Grand Jury has concluded its investigations into the matter and it is known whether or not accusations are to be made against any one else as accomplices of Hart.

The case of Fukugawa, a Japanese indicted for vagrancy, was also postponed, the matter going over for a week.

MARUV

HE GOT MONEY

"I was pretty nearly mobbed," said Maruyama, the emigrant agent who went to Vancouver on the steamer Kumeru, and who returned on the Alameda this morning. "I got the Consul at Vancouver to dig up every dollar that he took from the emigrants. I know that he had no use for me; but as I represented the local hotel-keepers, I made him come to my terms."

"Where is the money?" asked the reporter.

"Oh, I have sent it down here to my superior," replied Maruyama. And he hurried on to get a hack.

"I have nothing else to say except that I am glad to get back."

A lot on the School street extension with a two-story house was this noon sold at auction by J. F. Morgan. It was bought by the order of J. H. Cummings for $2900.

In the matter of the Territory vs. Joe Clark, who is accused of having violated the old liquor law, argument on the demurrers was today put over until next Saturday. It is generally supposed that a nolle prosequi will be entered in this case, as Clark has been punished enough already. He has lost his license and has been declared a bankrupt. Further court proceedings would be rather rubbing it in.

THIS PET DOG TAKEN FROM POUND TO LUAU

as soon as I knew anything about it I went down to get a tag and then to get the dog. I then found that the dog had been killed, and used for a luau by Keoluha and his friends.

"The dog was a splendid animal, we were almost heart broken and they did not keep the animal the required period. It was a fat dog so they took it and killed it."

"Now I want damages. I told them they must pay $100. They thought that too much, and not to be too harsh I said I would take fifty. Then I said I would be satisfied if they would give me a St. Bernard pup in the place of the one they killed and enough money to pay for keeping it till it could care for itself."

"Yesterday I went to the police station and Sheriff Laukea had a receipt for me to sign. It was for twenty-five dollars 'on account.' I had already signed it when I saw that they could trick me. They could give me twenty-five dollars and then a pup of any kind. I told them to take their money and give me back the receipt. They took the money and for some time would not give me the receipt. Finally Laukea allowed me to take the receipt and draw lines through my signature."

"It was a most outrageous affair. They said the reason the dog was killed was because the pound keeper could not read and write. If that is true I'd like to know why they are employing non-voters at the pound. A man who can't read and write can't vote in this Territory."

"Think of that man Keoluha and those dancing girls eating my dog. Think of the police killing the dog before I had time to claim it, just because some one wanted a fat dog for a luau. It's a shame."

Now when the Board of Supervisors investigates the police department for killing off dogs for luau, Supervisor Keoluha is expected to growl and bark lustily. For Mrs. Nakuina says he helped eat her pet dog.

JACK LONDON, HIS CAPTAIN, AND DEMOSTHENES' GARDEN

Then Jack chimed in. Then the sugar-boiler, seeing it was two to one, also chimed in.

Turning to Jack London, the author, the sugar-boiler said in ripe Scotch dialect, "Who are you, any way? The oiler on board the Shark?"

"Biff!" Jack landed on the sugar-boiler, who went down.

Jack London was on top. Then Demosthenes went to the rescue. Then the Captain chimed in. It was a great mix-up.

Finally Demosthenes crawled out of the wreck, turned pale, and telephoned for the police.

This sobered things. Honor had been satisfied and peace restored when the police arrived. And there was no one to swear out a complaint. So the police had nothing to do.

Jack London and his Captain had their supper served in the regular dining-room.

Demosthenes saved the honor of Greece, and the sugar-boiler took a quiet drink on the house.

WATERFRONT NOTES

The ketch Shark sailed at 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon for the Marquesas Islands, passing out of sight with all sails set at 5 o'clock. There were not more than half-a-dozen people on the wharf to bid Mr. and Mrs. London bon voyage.—Hawaii Herald.

Work On Forts Begins

Major Jno. W. Ruckman of the artillery corps arrived on the transport Sherman this afternoon, seven days out from San Francisco. Major Ruckman comes here to superintend the erection of Honolulu fortifications.

The Sherman experienced pleasant weather on her trip down. When she was out about 66 miles from San Francisco the Sherman spoke the transport Logan by wireless at a distance of 120 miles.

The Honolulu passengers were very few. Most of them were Federal officials and their families. She brought 236 tons of freight and no mail for this port.

About 1000 barrels of cement arrived to be used for the fortifications.

There are 115 cabin passengers, 84 second cabin, and 848 steerage. There is a nice band on board the Sherman, which will play while she is in port.

The only passengers for Honolulu were R. J. Taylor of the Customs Bureau, Major Jno. W. Ruckman of the Artillery Corps, Mrs. W. C. McCoy and Mrs. F. Turrill.

DELEGATE'S SECRETARY

copy will be forwarded to each of our representatives in Congress.

Yours truly,
H. B. GURLEY,
Acting Secretary.

PEARL HARBOR.

Whereas, there is an immediate demand for dry dock facilities in Hawaii, the strategic center of the Pacific, both for commercial and naval needs; and

Whereas, Pearl Harbor, near Honolulu, one of the finest natural harbors in the world, completely land-locked with an extended area of safe anchorage capable of accommodating the largest vessels afloat, is admirably situated for this purpose; and

Whereas, the building of a suitable dry dock, no matter how quickly entered upon and diligently prosecuted, cannot but consume much time in completion and will, in fact, scarcely be in readiness for the opening of the Panama Canal;

Now, therefore, be it Resolved, by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, That the early widening, deepening and straightening of the Pearl Harbor channel, which is absolutely necessary in order to make this splendid harbor available for deep-water vessels, is a matter of the greatest importance, not simply to the Navy or the commercial interests of the Territory of Hawaii, but also, in our opinion, is an absolute necessity for the proper safeguarding of trans-Pacific commerce, which is now witnessing such a rapid development.

I hereby certify, etc!

WM. D. STEPHENS,
President.

H. B. GURLEY,
Acting Secretary.

I beg to acknowledge copy of resolution in your favor of the 12th inst.

Yours very sincerely,
GEO. L. LILLEY,
